President Will Leave No Doubt in Minds of Public as to His Position on Questions That Have Been Raised; Radio Will Carry Voice.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—All issues will be joined and the campaign swung into "full speed ahead" tonight when President Coolidge is formally notified of his nomination by the Republican party and responds with his speech of acceptance. The President spent several hours a day for three weeks carefully preparing his address and it is expected to deal with every question that may be raised. It is his desire to leave no doubt in the minds of the voters where he stands on all subjects.

The notification ceremony will be in Memorial Continental Hall, scene of the Washington disarmament conference. Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee will open the meeting, introducing former Representative Mondell who was permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention.

Mondell, acting as chairman of the committee, composed of a representative from each of the states and territories, will make a brief speech, introducing the President of the convention, Mr. Coolidge, then will deliver his speech of acceptance. Among those who will attend the ceremonies are Mrs. Coolidge and John Coolidge, members of the Republican National Committee, about 20 senators and 25 representatives, Governors Denny of Delaware, Baxter of Maine, Hyde of Missouri, Proctor of Vermont and Branch of Indiana and a number of Republican state chairmen. Seats for these guests have been reserved. The remainder of the 2,500 places in the hall are available to first comers. Chairman Butler took pains not to have the affair appear exclusive.

Radio will carry the President's speech to an estimated audience of 25,000,000 persons through 15 broadcasting stations. He will go on the air about 8:30. Amplifying devices have also been installed to carry the speech in adjacent streets and parks where thousands unable to get into the hall are expected to congregate.

Tomorrow night the President and Mrs. Coolidge will leave for Rutland, Vt., where the President hopes to get about 15 days' outdoor recreation on his father's farm. They will return in time to give a luncheon at the White House to the Prince of Wales on August 20.

STEEL TRADE SHOWS WEEKLY INCREASES IN SEVERAL LINES

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade today says:

The course of the steel trade still indicates a measurable increase from week to week in output of rolled products. Thus, while the steel output statistics for July show an average of 41.5 per cent of capacity employed, reckoning the total at $4,000,000 tons a year, the industry as a whole is probably running this week at nearer 50 than 40 per cent.

Expectations of further improvement at the mills, and they are general, are based rather upon a rebound from the inadequate replacement buying of June and July than on any new development in important consuming lines.

The most likely exception is in railroad steel, in view of recent releases for rail tonnage on which rollings had been held up, and the probability of other like action both by eastern roads and by several which had placed orders with Chicago district mills. At present low prices for plates there are indications also that freight car contracts could be put through at substantial concessions from the car works side of six months ago.

The week has brought no marked change in prices, though buyers are not persuaded that the low point has been reached. Although Detroit automobile companies have been buying some steel recently, the promised increase over the July rate of car production has not materialized.

Including 10,300 tons for Philadelphia subway work, awards of structural steel work called for $7,000 tons, practically the average of the past 10 weeks. The volume of new work appears to be falling off.

While actual advances in pig iron are few, indications of greater resistance by sellers are more definite. Two steel companies that are active sellers of foundry iron are quoting 50 cents higher and are less eager for business.

CAR RUNS OVER DRIVER'S HEAD

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, Aug. 14.—When his stripped roadster balked as he was retracing from East Home Place yesterday, J. M. Kneiss, Jr., attempted to push the machine along, guiding it by holding to the steering wheel. It got away, hurled him to the ground and a wheel passed over his head. He suffered several bruises but was not severely hurt. The car kept going uprooting two shade trees and stopping on the front porch at the home of Christ Meader.

NOAH B. FORSYTHE DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME AT LAYTON

Assistant Track Foreman for Washington Run Company
Suffers Stroke.

STRICKEN IN THE YARD

While at work in the yard at his home at Layton this morning, Noah B. Forsythe, 51 years old, assistant track foreman for the Washington Run Railroad Company and one of the best known men in the community, died suddenly, presumably from cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Forsythe had risen about 5:30 o'clock and gone to the garage to do some work and was returning to the house when he collapsed. He died almost instantly.

A life-long resident of the locality, Mr. Forsythe was known to all. He had been employed with the railroad company for many years. He was at his work as usual Wednesday, although he had complained for several days of not feeling well.

Surviving are Mrs. Forsythe, five sons and a daughter: Paul at Ellwood City, Raymond, Otto, Marion and Clifford at home, and Mrs. O. P. Rough at Layton. He leaves also two brothers and two sisters: Cyrus Forsythe of Bannock, William of Reamstown, Mrs. Joseph Fisher of Star Junction and Mrs. Obadiah Rhodes of Smethport.

The funeral service will be held Sunday at 2 o'clock, with Rev. A. C. Arndt officiating. Burial will be in Mount Washington Cemetery at Perryopolis.

INSURANCE DIFFERENTIAL SUSTAINED

By United Press.
HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—Governor Pritchett today refused to abolish the differential of 10 per cent in compensation insurance rates demanded by insurance companies to equalize their rates and those of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

The fund which is managed by the State, is permitted to charge 10 per cent less than casualty companies. Profits of the funds are distributed among the policy holders.

The 10 per cent differential of the Pennsylvania State Workmen's Insurance Fund is not a discrimination against private companies but an equalization which serves to balance in part certain disadvantages and costs of operation which weigh against the fund and not against the companies.

NOTICED AT CLARKSBURG

When National Committee Met for Re-organization; Ulan Shaver, New Chairman, Lacked Experience to Handle a Parliamentary Tangle.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1924, by The Courier

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Much curiosity seems to have manifested itself here as to whether the acrimonious debate in the Democratic National Committee meeting at Clarksburg presaged a continuance of factional warfare inside the Democratic party.

The significance of the controversy was not apparent on the surface but it dates back to the fight over the nomination of Ulan Shaver, who has been suggested in some quarters, an effort to punish a McAdoo leader.

Had there been any concerted effort on the part of the anti-McAdoo men to show their feeling they would have logically opposed the selection of Samuel Amidon of Kansas as vice chairman. Amidon has been one of the staunchest of the McAdoo group but he was chosen unanimously. Bruce Kramer of Montana, however, who as vice chairman had the unpleasant task of handling the tickets, incurred several enemies and they came home to roost at the national committee meeting.

The quarrel, however, was really a temper in a temper and would never have developed a protracted debate but for a parliamentary tangle which the inexperienced new chairman, Ulan Shaver, was unable on the one hand to straighten out and, on the other, was reluctant to inject himself in the row because of the possible after-effects.

Shaver is a droll man of a conciliatory disposition and he did not feel that he should begin his job by attempting to iron out personal animosities. Before the national committee began its meeting there was talk of punishing Mrs. Emily Newell Blair for her alleged activities in behalf of McAdoo because, as vice chairman, she was supposed to be neutral. She insists she was. But some of the ambitious women who wanted her job used it as an excuse for an attack. The fight did not develop, however, and Mrs. Blair was unanimously re-elected.

Kramer will occupy an important post in the campaign and probably will be one of the principal managers in the western campaign. George Brennan of Illinois, who was the leader of the Smith forces at the convention, paid tribute to Kramer's ability and said specifically that he wanted him associated with the western headquarters at Chicago.

This illustrates, however, how far behind the Democrats are in the matter of organization. Their convention was delayed and the notification ceremonies held up the selection of managers because the national committee did not begin to function for the campaign with full authority until the Clarksburg meeting. John W. Davis is expected here this week to help get the national headquarters going. There may be old scores which will continue to bring out personal differences but they do not affect in any way the support given Davis.

NIAGARA FALLS CHURCH BOMBED

By United Press.
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The First Baptist Church, located in the center of the city was bombed early today. Every window of the church was blown out and in the Y. W. C. A. building, directly across the street, all the windows were broken.

Rev. C. B. Mercer, president of the Niagara Falls Council of Churches, and leader of vice crusades, is pastor of the church. The police have no clue as to the identity of the bombers and no motive for the crime except that it was done to wreak revenge for recent raids led by Rev. Mercer.

Chautauqua Closes With Good Comedy

The Swarthmore Chautauqua, which presented its programs here from August 8 to 13, inclusive, closed last evening with a three-act comedy, "Their Honor, the Mayor." A large crowd witnessed the play and enjoyed it thoroughly.

No pledges were taken to bring the entertainment here again next year but it was indicated that some time next spring the people would have an opportunity of indicating whether they desired to have the program presented again in the summer. The heavy rain proceeding the presentation of the performance caused before the time for the curtain raising and had little effect on the attendance.

ROAD CELEBRATION PLANS ARE MAKING SPLENDID PROGRESS

Program to Include Parades
From City and the Mountain
Section.

MEET AT PLEASANT HILL

Plans for the celebration, on Wednesday, August 27, of the opening of the first improved section of the Connellsville-to-Parmington road are making splendid progress and are being prepared in a very systematic and business-like manner.

These features were noticeable yesterday when members of the various committees, including a good representation from the mountain district, met at the office of General Chairman A. M. Haines to arrange further details of the celebration.

The program as agreed upon at this meeting will include two parades, one comprising people from Connellsville and one to include the residents along the line of the road east of the improved section and from points in the Indian Creek Valley. The Connellsville parade will form at Snyderstown at 2 o'clock. Under the chief marshaling of A. S. Slicker it will move to Pleasant Hill, a short distance beyond the end of the paved road.

The mountain contingent will assemble at Mill Run at 2 o'clock and proceed to Pleasant Hill where both parades are expected to arrive at 2:30 o'clock. George Colborn of Mill Run, Harry Sparks of Indian Head, M. H. Hostetler of Ohio, and Charles H. Brooks of Normalville will act as chief marshals of the mountain parade.

At Pleasant Hill there will be music and speaking followed by a program of sports and other features. The program will be brief the chief object of the celebration being to afford the people an opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

For the purpose of carrying out the program Chairman Haines appointed the following committees: Invitations and speaker—C. B. Franks, chairman; J. S. Henderson, John L. Gans, Sturgis Colborn and F. W. Byrne.

Finance—C. T. Kepner, chairman; C. B. Franks, A. B. Norton, Jr., A. M. Haines and Sturgis Colborn.

Entertainment—W. D. McGinnis, chairman; Clyde Down, T. H. Kern, M. B. Pryor and George W. Campbell.

Music—J. E. Wallace, chairman; H. E. Mason and W. B. DeRitt.

Advertising and publicity—George S. Connell, chairman; James M. Driscoll and E. M. Leberger.

Grounds—A. M. Haines, chairman; C. T. Kepner and Dr. L. Cochran.

C. T. Kepner, as president of the Chamber of Commerce, has written letters to State Highway Commissioner Paul D. Wright and County Commissioners Hrbis, Langley and McClellan extending them a very cordial invitation to be present for the celebration.

A meeting of the committees will be held at the office of Chairman Haines at 2 o'clock Thursday, August 21 for the purpose of receiving reports.

Change in the place for holding the celebration, from Sandy Flat to Pleasant Hill, was made with a view to having it at a point nearer a half way between Connellsville and the Indian Creek Valley and for the greater convenience of the people in that community.

20 DESTROYERS IN FLEET

Greatest Army of Vessels Yet Assembled With War Way of Smugglers of Liquor, Narcotics and Aliens into United States; Secretary Previews.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Admiral Frederick Billard, commander of the United States Coast Guard, has temporarily transferred his headquarters to the Jersey coast to assume personal charge of the guard's forthcoming offensive against rum runners. It was learned today Headquarters of the service here maintained extraordinary secrecy concerning preparations for the drive and refused to divulge Billard's whereabouts. It is understood he has been in Philadelphia and intends to go to Long Island. Conferences with Coast Guard regional officials to coordinate the movement are scheduled.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—More than 1,000 men, secretly mobilized, busied themselves getting the destroyers, mine sweepers and coastal motor boats for the hour when they will start out to sea to establish an armed barrier along the coast against the illegal traffic of liquor and aliens.

Twenty destroyers of World War type, some with the star on their smokestacks that marks them as having sunk a German submarine, comprise the battle line of the Coast Guard fleet.

The command has been established to prevent any of the plans of the fleet becoming known to the spies of the smuggling interests. No civilians are permitted near the sections of the yards where the fleet is arming and Commander Hamlet, in charge here, today announced that all news concerning the fleet's activities would be withheld until something is accomplished.

WOMAN FINDS SNAKE IN BED WITH HER

"Mrs. Norman Harshman awoke to find a blacksnake in bed with her," reads an item in some correspondence sent The Courier by Mrs. J. D. Dickson of R. F. D. No. 3, out of Connellsville. "They killed the snake," the writer adds. In the same letter reference is made to a class call Mrs. Dickson had with a copperhead. It was "just a hind's length" from her foot when she discovered it. She killed the reptile. She also tells of an encounter with a rattler in a buckeroberly patch.

Stores of Three Towns
Close on August 26.

PLACE IS DAWSON PARK

Committees for the first annual community outing of the Emory Lewis Pratt Post of the American Legion No. 1040 and the Milton J. They will try to get the stores at Vanderbilt, Dickerson Run and Dawson to close on Tuesday at noon. The Vanderbilt merchants have signified their intentions of closing but in the other towns the outcome is uncertain.

As the picnic will be an all-day affair, the committeemen are looking for a record crowd. Free coffee will be served at noon and for supper. Round and square dancing will be held in the dance hall in the evening. The afternoon will be confined largely to outdoor activities. The sports committee is arranging an excellent program. HUGHES HOME, HOPEFUL FOR DAWES PLAN

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Secretary of State Hughes returned to the United States today in jaunty spirits and very hopeful and optimistic regarding the outcome of the London conference on the Dawes reparations plan.

Arriving here on the steamer President Harding, with Mrs. Hughes, the secretary of state entrained at once for Washington in order to be present at President Coolidge's notification speech tonight.

Hughes was away for one month and one day, during which time he attended the meeting in London of the American Bar Association and also visited Paris, Brussels and Berlin in the interest of the European settlement. Hughes took occasion to emphatically deny charges in Moscow that he went to Europe to work against agreement between the Soviet and the European powers declaring: "I did not discuss Russian affairs at all in Europe."

Los Angeles Police Declare They Are Confident McCoy Was Responsible
For Death of Woman, Described as Beautiful Dealer in Antiques

By United Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—Norman Selby, better known as "Kid McCoy," who once wore a world championship pugilistic belt, gained fame as a champion in matrimonial ranks when he married nine times and was divorced as many, and who became an evangelist and wound up in the movies, faced the climax of his career today fighting perhaps for his very life.

He awoke in a prison cell here this morning to see detectives staring about and prosecutors trying to fasten on him the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, the woman he said a few days ago he wanted to make his 10th wife.

Formal charges of having shot and wounded three persons stood against him and then to haunt him were the words written on the police record, "held for murder."

Police declared they were confident that McCoy was responsible for the death of the beautiful dealer in antiques, whose "protector" he was, and who had divorced her husband, Albert Mors, only a few days ago after a hearing in which the name of "Kid McCoy" had figured prominently.

In the first hour or so after his arrest, McCoy would make only one statement and that was he "killed the only woman that I ever loved."

Later he varied it.

"She committed suicide last night," he mumbled. "First I put her on the davenport. Then I moved her onto the floor."

Near the body was a .32 caliber automatic pistol and a bullet to it it was taken from the woman's head by police surgeons. Clipped in the hand of the corpse was a photograph of the ex-pugilist. They had been living at the apartment in Mrs. and Mrs. N. Shields.

Shortly after the body was discovered, McCoy threw the first complication into the case.

Brilliantly, he fired a 45 calibre pistol and shouting incoherently, he appeared in the brokerage office run by Sam Schapp and his wife, Ann, William J. Ross, a New Yorker, was glancing by the counter.

McCoy proceeded to rob them and ordered the men to disrobe, apparently to block pursuit. Ross, attempted to disarm the former fighter and received two bullets in the thigh. McCoy slightly wounded Schapp and his wife and then fled.

As he fled across the West Lake park, his pistol fell from his pocket and a patrolman arrested him. McCoy's apartment was searched and a note was found. It read:

"To whom it may concern: To go to my mother, Mrs. Mary C. Selby, 6111 Mesa Drive."

Norman Selby.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—I want Kid McCoy to hang—and I want to pull the rope." Weeping without restraint Albert Mors, divorced husband of the beautiful Theresa Mors, who was found dead in her apartment, bitterly demanded vengeance today on the pugilist movie star who is held on suspicion of murder.

HALF HOLIDAYS AT DAWSON, DICKERSON RUN ARE ABANDONED

The business men of Liberty, Dickerson Run and Dawson, cooperating in the half holiday movement, abandoned the Wednesday afternoon proposition yesterday. All of the stores remained open the entire day. It was said there was no hope of a half holiday for the remainder of the year. According to the agreement signed, the stores were to have enjoyed the Wednesday half holiday off during July, August and September, the last one to be on September 24.

Failure of two of the business men of Dawson to close their stores on the Wednesday afternoon led to the abandonment, it was said. The majority of the stores had two holidays. Yesterday was to have been the third. The majority of the business men wanted this recreation and the people were cooperating with them, it was said.

LARGE CROWD OUT FOR OPENING OF VANDERBILT POOL

Chicken Supper and Lawn Fete Held in Connection With the Event.

OTHER NEWS OF THE DAY

Special to The Courier.
VANDERBILT, Aug. 14.—The town's swimming pool at the Strickler Recreation Park was officially opened last evening with a chicken dinner and lawn fete at the park, near Jefferson School. Although Jupiter Pluvius did his best to prevent the opening, a large crowd turned out to spend the evening.

When the people complained of not having a swimming pool for the summer, the Jefferson Recreation Club came to the rescue and made arrangements for a pool. The construction of which they themselves financed. The club had leased the ground where the park is located and, unable to find an adequate supply of good, clean water, decided to build the pool at the park. The members of the club did the majority of the construction work.

The pool is located about five miles out of Vanderbilt along the state highway. It is about 100 feet long and 15 feet wide. It ranges to six feet in depth.

The half holiday for the business men and the postponement of the ball game helped materially in getting the large crowd to attend the opening of the pool. O. W. Herbert is chairman of the club that was in charge of the celebration.

LENGTH OF TRAINS GREATER THAN EVER IN R. R. HISTORY

Result of Gradual and Steady Increase in Efficiency of Operation.

AVERAGE NOW 40.4 CARS

The railways made a new high record in May when, as disclosed by statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission which have just been issued, they handled 42.1 freight cars in the average freight train.

"This is the largest average number of cars ever moved per freight train in any month," says the Railway Age. "The nearest approach ever made to this record was in October, 1923, and in April, 1924, when the figure was 41.3."

The Railway Age makes clear the significance of this record by indicating how comparatively small increases in the average train load result in many millions of dollars of savings in operating expenses.

"This record breaking average number of cars per train," says the Railway Age, "is the result of a gradual and steady increase in efficiency of operation. The average number of cars per train in 1920 was 36.8; in 1921, 38.4; in 1922, 39.8; and in 1923, 40.3. In the first five months of 1924, it was 40.4 as compared with 38.5 in the corresponding months of last year. This increase being 1.9 cars per train. This may not seem important, but let us consider its effect upon certain operating expenses of the railways."

"If in the first five months of this year they had handled only the same number of cars per train as in the first five months of 1923 they would have had to have run freight trains 22,400,000 miles more than they actually did to handle the business. The Interstate Commerce Commission computes certain unit costs of operation which include locomotive repairs, wages of engineers and trainmen, fuel for train locomotives, car house expenses and other locomotive and train expenses. Although the average number of cars per train was greater than in the first five months of 1923, these unit costs per train mile were less, totalling $1.85 in the first five months of 1924 and only $1.66 in 1923. Therefore, it is reasonable to conclude that every train mile saved involved a saving of at least $1.66 and that in consequence the saving of 11,000,000 train miles amounted directly in money to over $18,000,000, or at the rate of about $44,000,000 a year as we carry the comparison back ten years to 1914, it becomes much more striking. In 1914 the average number of cars in each freight train was 21, or 7.4 less than in the first five months of 1924. If the railways in the first five months of 1924 had handled only 21 cars per train the number of freight trains run-one mile to handle the business would have been 46 million greater than it was, and the costs mentioned would have aggregated 80 million dollars more than they did, or at the rate of 200 million dollars a year more."

"These are these large savings the only ones that are caused by increases in the number of cars handled in each train. It seems highly probable that if it were possible to calculate all the savings resulting from the increase in average cars per train, it would be found that the increase in 1924 over 1923 is saving the railways at the rate of 70 million dollars a year and that the increase in 1924 over 1914 is saving them as much as 300 million annually."

"Those who are not familiar with the development and operation of railways might inquire why, if increase in the average number of cars moved per train has such a great effect upon operating expenses, it has not been accomplished more rapidly. The answer is that it requires so many improvements in physical facilities and in operating methods that it can be accomplished only gradually. An increase in the number of cars in a train gives the locomotive more tons to pull. In order that locomotives may pull larger tonnage, it is necessary to provide larger and more powerful locomotives or to reduce track gradients or both. Heavier locomotives require stronger tracks and bridges, longer turntables, larger engine houses, etc. Increases in the length of trains require increases in the length of passing and yard tracks. The longer and heavier trains are the stronger cars must be built in order to prevent trains from pulling apart. Now, the provision of heavier and more powerful locomotives, the reduction of grades, the lengthening of passing and yard tracks, and the provision of stronger cars all require capital expenditures, and therefore before these improvements can be made, the railways must be able to raise and invest adequate amounts of new capital.

"Furthermore, after better physical facilities have been provided it is necessary to make improvements in operating methods in order to utilize the improved physical facilities to the best advantage. The problem of so assembling cars and making up and moving trains as to secure the maximum train load, while at the same time maintaining and increasing the average miles that freight cars are moved daily, is one of great complexity and difficulty and constantly tests the efficiency of the transportation department of every railroad."

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everybody thought I was going into more and got better, and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Moondlight and Mockingbird
Late in the night from some vantage point—the tip-top twig of the tall tree, the point above the crosspiece of a telephone pole or the peak of the barn-silo, a "moondlight" is heard to sing his song.

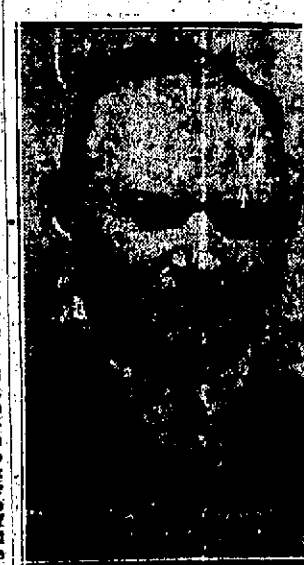

The world has deep miseries. High over all rises the moon, its radiance veiled by a delicate mist that lightly drapes the ancient oak hills and hangs for accompaniment the soft sound of dewdrops falling from the petals of the leaves on the palm of blood trees.

At Open Car Cost ESSEX COACH

Built by Hudson

The outstanding buying choice this year is "Closed Car Comforts at Open Car Cost." The Coach alone provides them. It is exclusive to Hudson and Essex. Everyone knows it gives highest closed car value. And because no other type or car shares its position it is the largest selling 6-cylinder closed car in the world.

Genuine Balloon Tires Enhance World's Greatest Value
Naturally when balloon tires have established their superiority Hudson and Essex would adopt them. They are now standard equipment. They add an even greater measure of riding ease, steadiness and good looks to the notable values of the Coach.
You see the Coach everywhere in increasing numbers. Everyone wants closed car comforts. They will no longer accept half-utility when all-year usefulness and comfort cost no more in the Coach.
Consider how the growing trend to closed cars affects resale values. The diminishing demand for open cars means far faster depreciation in that type. As the wanted type, the Coach maintains exceptionally high resale value.

GUARDING AGAINST SMALLPOX.

The more fact that a very considerable number of cases of smallpox of a virulent type have developed in Pittsburgh and other parts of the state, resulting in an unusual high death rate, ought of itself to be a warning to all citizens to exert the influence toward having the necessary measures taken to prevent the spread of this loathsome disease.

The seriousness of the situation is pointed out in the circular letter State Secretary of Health Miner has sent to local boards of health. "Every locality," says Dr. Miner, "by reason of its proportion of unvaccinated citizens, is liable to a similar experience through the chance visit of one from or to an infected district."

In view of the possibility that the disease may readily be carried by the means it is the very plain duty of every citizen of this section to speedily and fully comply with the suggestions of Dr. Miner. It having been proven times without number that vaccination is the surest safeguard against smallpox, and the only means by which even a mild epidemic of the disease can be checked, no time should be lost by persons who are unvaccinated, and those whose vaccination took place many years ago, to submit themselves to inoculation.

In the case of children who are entering school for the first time this year, the School Code very specifically requires that proof of successful vaccination be furnished as a condition of enrollment. Children who have been vaccinated, but without success, will be required to again submit to inoculation before they can be admitted to school. There are a few persons who apparently are immune to inoculation no matter how frequently the operation may be performed, but that fact will not satisfy the requirements of the law with respect to school children. If previous vaccinations have been unsuccessful another attempt must be made in order that there may be compliance with the law.

The concern all citizens are presumed to have to escape the danger incident to smallpox in the coming county quack to prompt them to take the very simple precautions by which such a visitation can be prevented.

THE GRANGE PICNIC.
The farmers of Fayette county have made the Union Grange Picnic a permanent institution, the value of which as a means of bringing the dwellers on the farms together for a day of recreation and fellowship once each year is steadily increasing. Through the division of the grange of the county into two groups, meeting a week apart, opportunity is provided for an exchange of visits by members of the two sections. Those comprising the southern section held their annual gathering in Springhill township on Saturday, August 13. A week later those in the northern half of the county met at Dawson Driving Park. At each of these assemblies of the farm folk a program of entertainment and sports is interspersed with music and other features, will engage the attention and interest of the throngs which will be in attendance.

There will be talks on farm topics by experts in various lines which, together with exhibits of farm machinery, which will give these people an educational value and, to a certain extent, make them close rivals of the county fair.

But nothing will surpass in popularity among the farmers, their families and friends, the basket dinners that will be served with that profusion and the still which have made farm women famous in the preparation of good things to eat. These will be shared with guests and friends with that openhanded hospitality which is the unbroken rule in farm homes and will give the picnic a charm long to be remembered by those who participate.

By virtue of these things, and the splendid weather in which it takes place, the Grange Picnic has acquired increasing importance and is looked forward to with keen anticipation. Its success in 1936 promises to be even greater than in preceding years.

Definition of Picnic.
A picnic is an occasion which provides opportunity to enjoy all the comforts that are not of home.

Presidential Race to Be Decided By Sixteen States

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The outcome of the three-horse presidential race hinges upon the electoral poll of 16 states, where the strength of the leading candidates concededly will be in doubt.

These 16 states, by swinging to either of the two leading candidates, can elect the next President of the United States by splitting their votes can throw the contest into the House of Representatives.

Mineral of this situation, President Coolidge, with his safe 155 electoral votes; John W. Davis, with his conceded 167, and LaFollette claiming 38, are beginning to scramble for the remaining 177 votes of the "doubtful 16."

Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Davis must get 110 of these 177 doubtful electoral votes to insure election—otherwise the entire issue will be thrown into the House.

This is the "dope" of master politicians who have figured the chances of each candidate upon the basis of past history in the various states, the admitted claims of the candidates, and the known political situation.

They "dope" the election just as expert sportsmen figure the chances of opposing teams in sport.

By the same method of reasoning, they give Mr. Coolidge the best chance to get the necessary 110 of the doubtful votes—upon which basis Wall Street makes him the favorite candidate in the betting.

Of the 16 admittedly doubtful states six are most important. These six are Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York and Ohio. These six big states control 129 electoral votes—enough to win. The other 10 smaller states are Arizona, Colorado, Maryland, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. All polled, they count only 48 electoral votes.

The history of politics favors Mr. Coolidge, the larger number of the six big states.
First is Iowa, which has only gone Democratic once in the last eight presidential elections. In 1912 it went for Wilson. In all the other contests it has cast its 13 votes for the Republican candidate. But recently the western revolt of the farmers' look much hold there that Senator Brookhart, a LaFollette progressive, succeeded in overthrowing the Republican organization and not only elected himself by 150,000 majority, but later he obtained re-election on the Republican ticket. This situation gives LaFollette a better chance than Davis in overthrowing the nominal Republican majority of the state.

In Michigan also the situation is highly in doubt. In the most recent election there the Newberry issue—his "protection" of nonunion, "which" in 1912 and gave the state to Roosevelt against it. At the same time Senator Cavanaugh, a progressive, came to the Senate upon appointment, along with Senator Ferris, a Democrat, who was elected by a small 15,000 majority. Henry Ford has further complicated the already tangled situation there by declaring for Mr. Coolidge and thereby swinging "whatever strength he may personally possess" against Davis and LaFollette. The record of the past however, shows that the state has not gone Democratic in a presidential election since before the election of 1912.

Missouri likewise is cast among the doubtful. It has been Democratic and Republican in national elections off and on—more often Democratic than Republican. For this reason the Democrats give Davis the best chance to carry the state, although the degree to which Senator Jim Reed, leader of the Democratic faction in the state, will support the Davis candidacy still is in doubt. Reed has been "off the reservation" repeatedly in his stormy political career, and no impartial prognosticator will forecast which way the wind will blow in November.

Despite the fact that Davis advocates are claiming New Jersey for him, there seems reasonable justification for putting the state in the doubtful list. Its history of national elections is exactly opposite Missouri. It has been Republican and Democratic off and on—but more often Republican than Democratic. Its polls depends entirely upon what issues are made uppermost during the last days of the campaign. New Jersey would go with for anyone, the political student says, but if the tax reduction question is shoved out in front it might go Republican.

Good listeners are almost unknown these days, and we ourselves have got so we don't look interested and still be thinking about getting our car painted or our wheels reamed up.

My how time drags. Senator LaFollette is only a little over seventy.

Republican Even his now Democratic senator, Edward J. Edwards, who apparently reflects the views of the majority in that state, voted against the Democratic tax rates. Senator Edgar, his Republican senator, is fighting against the strongest kind of Democratic opposition for the election. This situation places the case of New Jersey with its 14 electoral votes, clearly in doubt.

In New York the situation is even more complicated. Backers of both Mr. Coolidge and Davis maintain that they will each carry the big bloc of 46 electoral votes—and they submit figures to prove it. Governor Smith, whose personal political influence is most covered is believed to be strong enough to swing the state for Davis. But the state's history is in favor of Mr. Coolidge, because it has piled up big majorities for the Republican presidential candidates in the last two presidential elections—by a million majority for Harding in 1920.

The dope on Ohio favors Mr. Coolidge, although the final outcome there, too, is extremely uncertain. Mr. Harding carried the state over Cox in 1920 by a majority of 400,000, although in 1912 it backed Mr. Hughes and went Democratic by 30,000. The railroad brotherhoods, which are for LaFollette, have strength in the state and expect a big pull for him. In recent years it has shown more Republican than Democratic sentiment, and now has two Republican senators; the defeat of Pomerene, the Democrat, recently, being attributed to the opposition of the railroad brotherhoods. It has 24 electoral votes.

In the smaller group of 10 doubtful states, similar situations exist so that they may swing either way. Washington is claimed for LaFollette because of strong labor sentiment there; Oregon is claimed for Coolidge because of its Republican history. Colorado has recently developed strong Democratic sentiment, although LaFollette believes he can carry the state, and even Mr. Coolidge is claiming it.

In Nebraska there will be an interesting fight over the eight electoral votes. Senator Norris, a LaFollette leader in the Senate, might be able to swing the state to LaFollette, although Governor Charles W. Bryan, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, controls a powerful support. The outcome is completely in doubt, especially in view of the apparent lethargy of Norris in behalf of the LaFollette candidacy.

The others may swing either way. But there is no doubt that these 16 hold the fate of the election within the power of their wavering votes.

In them the battle will center and the real strength of the opposing forces will meet the test.
If the 46 can be unified behind one candidate, that one candidate will be chosen. But if they split evenly and fall to make up a majority for one, the contest will rest with the House.

Cannot Order Voters Around at Will

Philadelphia Inquirer

It is easy enough for Mr. Compere to call a crowd together and induce candidates for office. It is quite another thing to force the obedience of whole blocks of voters, whether of organized labor or otherwise.

This sort of thing has never worked out successfully. There is no reason to suppose that it can succeed this time. Mr. Compere may personally approve of Senator LaFollette, but in supporting him he is waiving his efforts. Since there is not the slightest chance that the Great Pretender can win more than a mere handful of electoral votes. Besides, the labor chief is playing with fire, for he is attempting to line up his following with the Socialists and most of the elements of unrest throughout the country.

LaFollette is a radical and is the candidate of radical forces. He must suffer from the company that he keeps, and he is keeping dangerous and sinister company. His object is not construction, but the reverse. Reaching to the full fact that he cannot win personal victory, his aim is to bring about confusion and plunge the nation into uncertainty. With the country disturbed, where would labor come out? Good wages and steady employment depend upon stability, not upon a condition of agitation and perturbation.

BE LENIENT WITH MOLLY.

Be lenient with Molly!
Old age, severe and grim,
Let youthful hearts be jolly,
Trust not your melancholy
On smiling her or him,
Time was your heart, as there are,
But now it knows what care are
And trouble's years are long.

Be lenient with laughter!
Old age, by duty bent,
For time the burden-bearing,
Shall bid his cares soon after,
And youth is sweetly spent,
When you were young and you mocked them.

Who bids you change your ways?
When you were young you shocked them
And danced away your days.

Be lenient when they blunder!
Old age correctly straight,
Let not your temper blunder
And sweep their pleasures under.
Leave that to Time and Fate;
For once your heart as there are,
Went leaping all about
But now it knows what care are
And they shall find that out.

$90,903,654 Worth Sand and Gravel Sold 1923

The sand and gravel sold in the United States in 1923 amounted to 139,932,363 short tons and was valued at $90,903,654, according to reports made by the producers to the Department of the Interior through the Geological Survey. These figures show an increase of about 48 per cent in quantity and 41 per cent in value over those for 1922. There was a general increase in both the quantity and the value of all classes of this material sold except in the value for filter sand.

A special canvass of railroad companies was made in 1923 in order to obtain more complete reports of non-commercial material used by them, and the figures obtained make up in part the large increase in the quantity of gravel used for railroad ballast. The sale of sand and gravel for use in the construction of buildings and pavements also showed a large increase.

The figures for 1923 include returns obtained from 2,428 sand and gravel plants, which is 443 more than the number represented by the figure for 1922.

Building operations consumed 29,224,783 tons, or more than 50 per cent of all the sand sold. Paving came next with 15,632,419. Foundries used 5,555,644 tons for molding purposes. Sand used for traction purposes was almost equal in that used in glass making. The total tonnage of sand and gravel sold in 1923 was 139,932,363 short tons.

The quantity and value of the different grades of sand and gravel produced in 1923 are shown in the following table:

HOW HE KNEW HIS COAT

After dining at a fashionable London restaurant a man with a shabby character went to the cloakroom, and was astonished to be handed his overcoat before he produced his ticket.

"How did you know that was mine?" he asked the attendant.

"I didn't, sir."

"Then why did you give it to me?"

"It's the one you gave me when you came in, sir."

Modern Heating Plant Is Now A Necessity

In the days of our forefathers, when their only garments were the skins of wild animals and their only weapons were stone axes, the whole family huddled around a small wood fire for protection.

How different are things today! Practically every home has a heating system of some sort or other.

The best heating plant is the VAPOR HEATING SYSTEM. If you are not getting the results you should from your plant, and expect to replace it with a later type, stop in and let us explain, in detail, the VAPOR HEATING SYSTEM.

Coal Trade Shows
Signs of Activity

Writing from Morgantown a correspondent of The Chicago Black Diamond says that for the first time in many weeks past there seems to be a better feeling as to the future in the minds of some of the operators, as they claim business has definitely taken a turn during the past week. By this it must not be taken that business is better, but for the not far distant future marked improvement is confidently looked for.

From a number of sources, come the word that additional railroad fuel will be placed in this region in the very near future. An order calling for something like seven hundred and fifty tons of fuel for a railroad that had been suspended for some time has been reinstated and is moving forward daily. Slightly increased shipments are reported on quite a few other orders.

Complaint of Wayne
Coal Co. Dismissed

The Interstate Commerce Commission has held that the Wayne Coal Company has failed to establish a prima facie case to support its allegations that it was discriminated against and the mine at the Pittsburg Terminal Railroad & Coal Company preferred in the matter of car supply and that its own mines received a less number of cars than they were entitled to during the period from October 1, 1917 to March 22, 1918. The complaint against the director general as agent and the Pittsburg & West Virginia Railway Company has been dismissed.

Substantially the same issue was involved in the case as in a case affecting the Avella Coal Company, the order in which is being contested in the courts. The complainant relied upon the commission's findings in the Avella case to support its allegations that it was discriminated against and the mine at the Pittsburg Terminal Railroad & Coal Company preferred in the matter of car supply and that its own mines received a less number of cars than they were entitled to during the period from October 1, 1917 to March 22, 1918. The complaint against the director general as agent and the Pittsburg & West Virginia Railway Company has been dismissed.

Planning a Menu.

One Mother Says: In order to train my little daughter for future housekeeping I make it a rule to let each of them plan a menu once each week. Then I talk over the menu with them and in this talking over give them many principles of planning a well-balanced meal. It is remarkable how much they have already learned about dietetics, and I am certain that when they are a little older I can go visiting with the assurance that my family will be correctly fed.

Lemons Bleach the Skin White

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring out their youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Advertisement.

These are built for the new part in ensemble plan, though the latest importations Ultramarine make new features, indicating quite plainly the direction in which the fashion tide will set at the opening of the coming season.

Some of the houses have modern comforts, but as a rule the Lapp contents himself with very little, and is very happy. Some of the reindeer are tame and are marked on the ear with their owner's name. At this time there is a gathering of all the tribes, and, besides to a stranger all reindeer look exactly alike, a Lapp will point out his own in the herd with unfeeling knowledge. Nor does a Lapp remove his reindeer's mark.

per, who made an overnight hit in Coolidgeville's "Adam's Rib." "The Apache Dancer" will be shown Friday and Saturday.

The Soisson

"PAWNED"—The feature picture today at the Soisson, with Tom Moore in the leading role, is one of the best pictures shown at this theatre in months.

"Pawnd" is from a story by Frank L. Packard, among the best known of American writers of current fiction and especially dear to motion picture devotees because of the success of his "The Miracle Man" as a photoplay. The tale is frankly melodrama—but melodrama done in such a way as to make the picture stand out among the really worth while and artistic productions of the screen.

The title comes from a series of plogues, either willingly or unwillingly, made by the principal characters. One pawns his life to the service of an international gambler. Another pawns his soul to drugs, another to drink, and the heroine pledges her hand in marriage as a loveless bride to save the life of the man she loves. One needs no further information to convince them that the working out of such a tangled skein is likely to result in intense and vivid photoplay action.

In "Pawnd," Mr. Moore has one of the best roles of his career, a role which permits to display his talents as an actor of unusual versatility to the best possible advantage. Another Roberts is the other featured member of the cast which also includes Charles Gerard, Janet Swickard, James Barrows and Billy Elmer.

Friday and Saturday, "The Night Message" will be shown.

The Orpheum

"BOY OF MINE" featuring Ben Alexander, supported by well known Paramount favorites, opened today at the Orpheum for a three day attraction.

To interpret real life—the kind with which we are all familiar—on the screen is admittedly one of the most difficult tasks in the world. It requires genius to achieve this result—genius in acting, in writing and in directing. And, in addition to these qualities, it seems as though the element of luck is necessary also to bring to life a picture that lives through its very humanness.

"Boy of Mine" is such a photoplay. The story is a captivating blend of rollicking humor and heart-rending pathos, gripping at all times and with a happy ending that sends people away satisfied with a smile on their faces.

Ben Alexander is cast as little Bill Lattimer, whose father, married late in life, is not able to realize that boys are animals in spirit, and cannot sympathize with Bill's innocent pranks. Bill's mother, understanding the boy, leaves him with him through fear that his life will be blighted if he remains within the chilling atmosphere of the Lattimer mansion. The manner in which the family is reunited forms a powerful and unexpected denouement.

"Boy of Mine" is a picture that will live forever in the hearts of those fortunate enough to see it.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "The Governor's Lady" will be shown.

At the Theatres

The Paramount

"THE MARRIAGE MARKET" featuring Jack Mulhall, Alice Lake and Pauline Garon in the leading roles, provides splendid entertainment today at the Paramount.

There is vividly and sincerely portrayed for the first time on any screen the penitence of our young folks for jazz and hooding whiskey; for "necking parties" and wild carousals. The author preaches no sermon, nor can he be accused of pointing a moral; but he has taken a page from life and painted it on the screen with glowing, bold strokes.

The plot concerns Theodora Bland, a charming, impulsive girl, who, at 17, is sent to a "finishing school" by an ambitious mother to be prepared for a brilliant marriage. But Theodora's heart controls her head and a kindly, generous nature prompts her to give protection to a girl who tells her she is running away from a reform school. Theodora discovers when it is too late that the girl is a murderer, and the ensuing complications, voided with a charming love interest, are thrilling and unusual to the nth degree.

The acting is superb throughout. Theodora is deliciously portrayed by Pauline Garon, the little French fa-

Gerald, following in the main the directions on the map of paper given him by Madame de Pontiere, reached his destination on the afternoon of the third day. He was in the car which he had hired at the last town on the railway route, a town which seemed to him, unacquainted with this corner of Scotland, almost an outpost of civilization. After miles of inland, unbroken except for huge boulders, the way had led around a range of smaller mountains until he had suddenly encountered, when he had been least expecting it, the tang of the sea. Many hundreds of feet below he saw at last his destination, a dwelling of stone as ancient and rudely fashioned, it seemed, as the massed-up buildings on risked his life in a mad enterprise for her sake.

"You have had a long journey, Lord Dombey," she said.

He bowed over the hand which she had extended to him.

"A long journey, indeed," he answered. "A journey down into hell—and back."

"Sit down," she invited, "and I will give you the explanation I owe you."

"Thank you," he answered. "I do not feel at home in this house. Let me remain standing until after you have told me what it all means. I have done your bidding. I have come to beg for my reward."

Her eyes looked at him coldly.

"I promised no reward," she reminded him.

"Not in words," he admitted. "Yet you know what I desire."

"That you desire is absurd," she declared. "That is what I wish to explain. You have discovered, perhaps, who I am."

"I learned who your brother was."

"My brother," she smiled. "Well, she went on, "listen. I am the Grand Duchess Pauline of Russia, princess and hereditary ruler of the Caspian provinces, and nearest in kin among living women to Nicholas, who was murdered by the people. The man whom you rescued is Paul, grand duke of Volostok, hereditary ruler of seventeen provinces, and nearest in the male line to the crown of Russia. He is my cousin."

"Your cousin?" Gerald exclaimed.

"And my husband," she answered calmly.

Gerald was extraordinarily cool. The situation began slowly to shape itself in his mind.

It has been the province of royalty," Pauline continued, "to make use of their courtiers, without explanation, in whatever way may seem good to them. I have made use of you. I did not seek your acquaintance or your friendship. I have kept you much further away from me than would mean of my illustrious ancestors. Yet, in these days, you will probably think that you have been ill-treated. I cannot help it. I and others of my race have been ill and mercilessly treated. Yours has been a small wrong. I made use of you and your devotion to free my cousin, to whom I was affianced. So far as my thanks can repay you, I tender them."

"You are very gracious," Gerald acknowledged, forgetting all his weariness and holding himself like a man.

"May I ask, were you married to the grand duke when I fetched him from his prison?"

"I was not," Pauline answered him.

"I was married a month after his return to England, with the consent and the approbation of my relatives here. Paul and I have but one hope and one desire—to live until the time when the people of Russia return to their allegiance, and to re-establish the Romanoff dynasty in Russia, either through ourselves or our children. For that reason we are lying here with an unseen guard provided by the English government. When you first met us we lived in seclusion, because already four times my life had been attempted. There are still men pledged to destroy us root and branch. Here they will not succeed. We are surrounded by faithful guards, and our lives are secure. Not until the children live and flourish who shall carry on our name will I or my husband take the slightest risk. The world may see something of us later. For the present we have only one thought."
